When the user signs in we would conditionally determine whether we would show the non-admin user screen or admin user screen

Once the application is logged in, then we would set the user's screen to have all of their albums. In side each album would contain the photos.

Once the application is logged in, then we would set the user's screen to have all the users available and their times. We would also have them click the ones they would like to view

We would navigate to the create a user screen where the person can create their user with the valid credentials

Once the search button is clicked you are able to create an album from the phtooos
